advancing access to justice, human rights and the rule of law

'The conscience of the legal profession'

JUSTICE is an independent law reform and human rights organisation. Since its formation in 1957, JUSTICE has been at the cutting edge of the debate on legal reform. It is widely respected for the breadth, depth and quality of its analysis. Today, more than ever, JUSTICE is involved in the issues that will shape the future legal landscape. JUSTICE depends on its members and supporters for the funds to carry out its work – you can help by asking your organisation to join us. See overleaf for organisational membership form.

human rights

With your organisation's help, JUSTICE will:

- continue to promote a human rights culture
- put the case for the development of economic, social and cultural rights
- examine the legality of military commissions – as in Guantanamo Bay – in terms of international human rights instruments

criminal justice

With your organisation's help, JUSTICE will:

- continue to defend a balanced system of criminal justice
- develop proposals for progressive reform
- review how the appeals system and the Criminal Cases Review Commission are working
- contribute to the debate on the future of restorative justice

Europe

With your organisation's help, JUSTICE will:

- lobby for the protection of human rights within the new EU constitution
- publish a detailed study of issues relating to the European Arrest Warrant
- lobby on safeguards for individuals
- maximise the potential of the European Charter of Fundamental Rights

equality

With your organisation's help, JUSTICE will:

- continue to make the case for an integrated approach to equality law
- work to ensure the success of the proposed single equality and human rights commission

asylum

With your organisation's help, JUSTICE will:

- lobby for adequate judicial supervision of the asylum process
- work to protect the human rights of those seeking refuge
- seek to influence development of policy from a human rights perspective

The rule of law

With your organisation's help, JUSTICE will:

- contribute to the debates on constitutional reform
- take up issues relating to legal aid and access to justice
- strengthen international links through our work with the International Commission of Jurists

Five good reasons why your organisation should join JUSTICE

JUSTICE is independent

Because it is not party political, JUSTICE commands respect throughout the political spectrum. We have representatives from each of the main political parties on our governing body.

JUSTICE is expert

JUSTICE draws on international research and caselaw, and the specialist input of experts to provide the template for public policy.

JUSTICE is influential

JUSTICE has a membership of prominent barristers and solicitors, distinguished academics, leading firms and chambers and many individuals and organisations engaged in human rights.

JUSTICE is effective

Through influential reports and informed dialogue, we continue to play a key role in amending and developing the law, government policy and the practice of public authorities.

JUSTICE is international

As the British section of the International Commission of Jurists (ICJ), we work with colleagues from across the world on areas of common interest and concern.

... and a sixth!
